Crew of Reich Freighter Sets Ship Afire Off Brazil's Coast

Sailors Enter Lifeboats and are Picked Up by Cruiser

VESSEL IS SUNK

Set Ship Ablaze Rather Than Face Seizure By British

Rio de Janeiro — (U)— Rear Admiral Sir Henry Harwood told the Associated Press today that the crew of the German freighter, Wakama, after setting their ship afire yesterday off the Brazilian coast, had been taken aboard a British cruiser.

Sir Henry, commander of British forces in the south Atlantic, said in an exclusive interview that 10 officers and 36 men of the Wakama's crew had been picked up in lifeboats by one of the British patrol vessels.

Sir Henry's flagship, the cruiser HMS Hawkins, entered port here last night. The cruiser Shropshire and Dorsetshire yesterday were in the waters off Brazil where the Wakama was intercepted and fired by her own men.

Menace to Shipping

Because she was considered a menace to navigation, the burning Wakama, Sir Henry said, was intercepted by the British cruiser, which then fired at her. He would not say which British ship delivered the finishing stroke but made it clear it was not the Hawkins.

"I didn't see the Wakama burning," he said, "but I know she burned and sank because of a communication I received from the other cruiser."

"I understood they finished her off so she would not menace other shipping."

When asked if a British scouting plane had been the first to spot the richly-laden 3,771 ton freighter, Sir Henry said:

"That is correct. But the plane did not attack; it simply gave word to give up."

No Difficult Task

Sir Henry, who was knighted after commanding the British squadron which drove the German pocket battleship, Admiral Graf Spee into Montevideo, gave indications that the overhauling of the Wakama had been an easy matter.

Describing himself as a "passenger" aboard the Hawkins, the admiral said the Hawkins did not make any move against the Wakama.

"We were in communication with the other cruiser. She located the Wakama and then asked for instructions."

"I said, 'You take care of her; we are going on to Rio de Janeiro.'"

Sent Out S O S

Asked whether the Shropshire or the Dorsetshire could take the credit for bagging the Wakama, the admiral answered:

"It was one of them. Besides the Hawkins, there was only one other British warship near the Wakama."

Her holds stowed with heavy consignments of lard, hides, cottonseed oil, mica, rock crystal and cacao, the Wakama had flashed an S O S yesterday, giving her position as 50 miles off Cabo Frio, east of Rio de Janeiro.

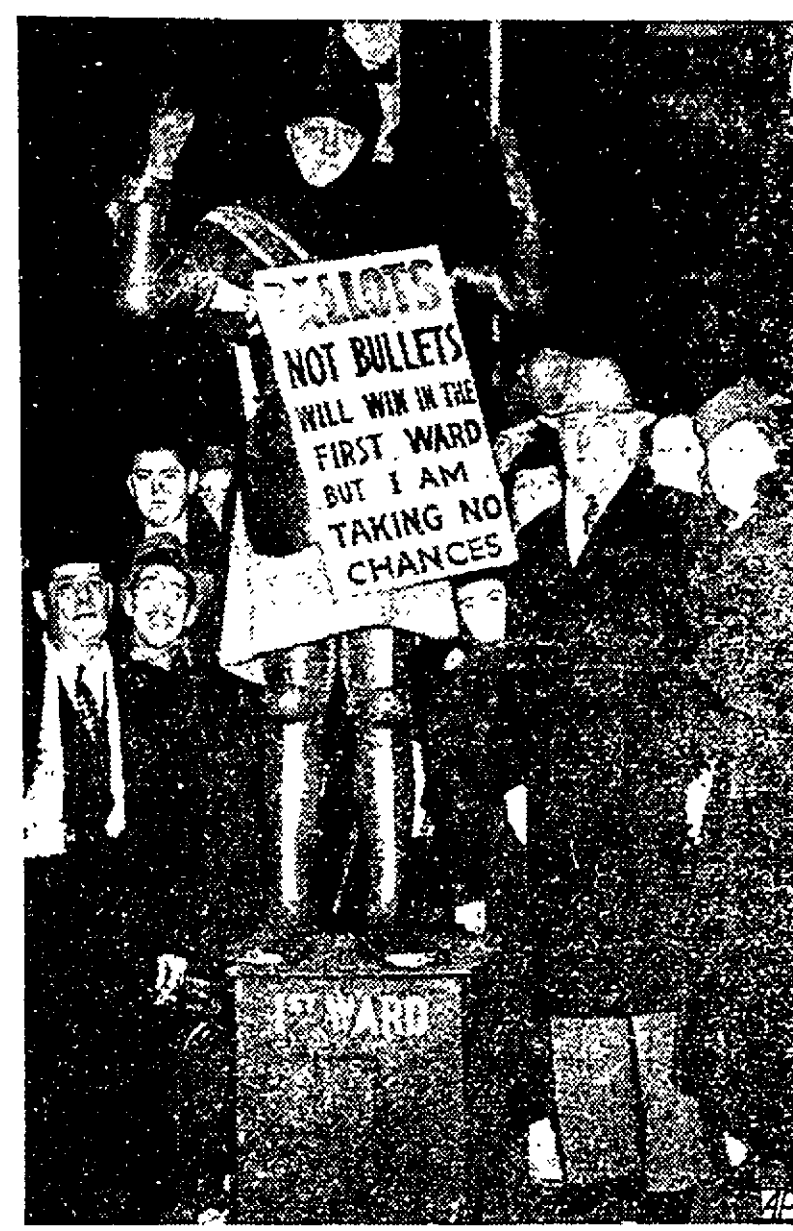

Since then some mystery had surrounded the fate of her crew, for previously a British sailor off the Hawkins had reported that the Wakama had been set afire but he could not tell what became of the crew.

The British admiralty has reported 23 German vessels totaling 139,236 tons scuttled by their crews to avoid capture up to Jan. 30.

London — (U)—

Survivors of the British trawler Tezuno, 200 tons, landed today on the southeastern coast of Ireland and reported their ship had been shelled and sunk by a German submarine. One of the crew was killed and three injured seriously. Eleven survivors, all suffering from exposure, reached land after spending 26 hours in an open boat.

WANTS TO 'RESCUE' FIRST WARD

In a full suit of armor, William F. "Sir Launcelot" Gilling is shown atop a rubbish box in Chicago's loop as he announced his intention to rescue the city's First ward from the dragon of "crooked politics." He wore a sign reading "Bullets not bullets will win..." He said "My life was threatened when I announced I was going to run for committeeman of this ward."

Recover Body of Cadet From Fire at Military Academy; Property Loss Is $115,000

All Cash Due Was Paid to County, Hess Maintains

Forest County Ex-Supervisor Denies Malfeasance, Embezzlement

Crandon, Wis. — (U)— Counsel for Albert J. Hess of Caswell, former Forest county supervisor, told a jury of 12 men today that Forest county obtained all the money due it from land transactions with the federal government.

Hess is on trial charged with embezzlement and malfeasance. He and Lester A. Carter, former Forest county treasurer, were accused of making a $21,000 profit through sale of tax delinquent county lands to the federal government.

When Carter was acquitted, the case against Hess was dropped by the trial court. The state, however, appealed to the supreme court which ruled that Hess still could be held for trial.

Says Offer Accepted

A. J. Omelia of Rhinelander, Hess' attorney, said in his opening statement that Dora Hess, wife of the defendant, had made an offer of $15,000 for the county land and that the county had accepted the bid.

Omelia contended that the county therefore was entitled to 70 per cent of the money paid by the government for the land, and Mrs. Hess was entitled to the balance.

Newell Boardman, assistant attorney general, is prosecuting the case, being tried by Circuit Judge George J. Leicht, Wausau.

The state entered into the records tax deeds on the lands in question, in an effort to show the county owned them before they were sold to the government. Government checks to county officers also were introduced as evidence.

Would License Scrap Iron Sales

Witness Points to Reich. Britain in Advocating Restrictions

Washington — (U)—Bradley Stoughton, representing the independent steel and iron producers, testified today that Germany and England had fallen into a "miserable condition" as a result of indiscriminate exportation of scrap iron.

Appearing before the house military committee, Stoughton said the United States faced the same plight because it was the only important country which still permits scrap iron to be exported without license.

He asked committee approval of a bill by Representative Smith (D-Conn.) to require a presidential license for all shipments from the country of iron and steel scrap "in the interest of national defense."

Chairman May (D-Ky.) announced when the hearing opened that the bill was aimed at a conservation of a natural resource.

"It has nothing to do," the chairman added, "with this country's relations with any foreign government."

This did not keep Representative Anderson (D-Mo.) from bringing out from Stoughton that Japan was the largest importer of American scrap at the present time.

Russians Send Added Troops Against Finns

Continue to Hammer Mannerheim Line in Summa Sector

ATTACKS REPULSED

Soviet Report Says 32 More 'Defensive Fortifications' Taken

Helsinki — (U)— After 13 days of bitter fighting, Finnish military authorities announced tonight that all positions of strategic importance on the Karelian isthmus had been won back by Finnish counter-attacks.

The Finns acknowledged for the first time that they had "withdrawn" late Sunday from some of these positions in the sector about Summa.

A military interpreter explained that this often occurs in "battles of such fury as are now going on."

The Mannerheim line is still intact, this Finn said.

One source said five Soviet divisions, including reserve lines, were committed in that sector, although no definite figures were available.

The strength of a Russian division is estimated at 15,000 men.

The deep-throated bark of artillery continued steadily as the Karelian isthmus battle went on.

The vigorous onslaught followed a short weekend decline, but the Finns said they were repelling the invaders at every point.

"There was no specific mention of a Russian contention that 32 more Finnish 'defensive fortifications' had been captured, bringing to 61 the number claimed since Thursday."

The Finns announced today that their army had repulsed heavy attacks in the Summa sector of the Karelian isthmus and also had beaten back assaults northeast of Lake Ladoga and in the Kuhmo sector further north.

Attacks Continue

In repulsing the Russians on the isthmus, the Finns yesterday "made several successful counter-attacks," the army communiqué said.

The Russian attacks "continued unabated" throughout yesterday, the Finns said.

Today's communiqué said there was fighting yesterday also at Muolajarvi and at Taipale on the isthmus.

In the Pukaranta islands northeast of Lake Ladoga the Finns said they "destroyed" a Russian column of 100 sledge, and they reported capturing several Russian machine-gun nests in the Kuhmo region.

At Raate, the Finns said, they drove a Russian detachment "back into the water."

Vandenberg Boosted For Presidency at Grand Rapids Dinner

Grand Rapids, Mich. — (U)—Mingling slaps at the present administration with predictions of Republican successes in the fall, national and state Republican leaders last night staged a preview of the coming presidential campaign at western Michigan's traditional Lincoln day banquet.

Toastmaster and central figure was United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and Governor Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania both praised Vandenberg. Stassen remarking that the senator "would ably and honorably preside on Pennsylvania avenue."

It remained for Governor Luren D. Dickinson to make the most pointed reference. Speaking extemporaneously, Dickinson said:

"We are all here tonight to start Senator Vandenberg on his way to be president of the United States."

Vandenberg spoke impersonally of the campaign, urging party unity to produce an administration for all America in which a pre-pledged one-term president is manifestly free of all incentive but the one and single job of saving America.

NOMINATED

Washington — (U)— President Roosevelt submitted to the senate today the nomination of Colonel Philip B. Fleming of Iowa to be wage and hour administrator. The army engineer, formerly an official with the PWA, has been nominally the head of the wage-hour division of the labor department for several months. Because of technicalities connected with his army status, legislation was required to let Fleming take the appointment as administrator.

Tammany Leader Faces Extortion, Bribery Charges

Accused of Accepting $1,500 in Payoff in Strike Settlement

New York — (U)— Tammany District Leader William Solomon, accused by a witness in the Louis "Lepeke" Buchalter labor racket trial of accepting $1,500 as part of a payoff for settlement of a bakery strike, was indicted today on charges of bribery and extortion.

Charles H. Mullens, assistant state comptroller, also was indicted on the charges growing out of an investigation into state and city printing contracts.

At the same time, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office disclosed that two officers of the Burland Printing company had been indicted in connection with their personal state income taxes for 1937.

Seven Counts

The seven counts in the indictment against Solomon and Mullens include three charging bribery, three charging acceptance of unlawful fees as public officers and one charging extortion.

Solomon and Mullens were arrested in the office of the district attorney's racket bureau, which has conducted the inquiry into printing contracts.

The names of the printing concern officers indicted were not disclosed pending their arrest.

Solomon's accuser was Max Rubin, a former labor union agent which survived a bullet in the head to repeat in court that he handed Solomon $1,500 of the sum he said was paid to settle the strike.

French Guarding Soviet Embassy

Ignore Immunity Because Of Relations With Outlawed 'Reds'

Paris — (U)— The foreign ministry announced today that a special police watch had been installed over the Soviet embassy in Paris in disregard of its diplomatic immunity because of its "relations" with the outlawed French communist party.

Authorities asserted that surveillance of the embassy in Paris went no farther than regulations already imposed by Russia on the French embassy in Moscow. They accused the Russians of questioning, searching and even photographing visitors to French diplomatic headquarters.

Police raided the Soviet trade bureau here last week and ransacked its files.

A Soviet protest against the incident was rejected by the French government.

Posting of a guard around the embassy was said to have "no political significance" in regard to Russian-French relations but feeling between the two powers has cooled sharply since the non-Soviet accord was concluded last August.

After war broke out, France outlawed the communist party, conducted widespread raids on communist organization headquarters and jailed several communist members of the chamber of deputies.

Band Leader Shaw and Lana Turner are Wed

Hollywood — (U)— Art Shaw, the band leader, and Lana Turner, the glamorous young motion picture actress, were married today in Las Vegas, Nev., after an air agreement. They were married at 4 p. m. by Justice of the Peace George Marshall, after getting the couple at bed. They also arranged a deputy clerk to issue the license.

Mrs. Turner, a Wallace, Idaho, girl who has been named "top" in pictures in the last year, gave her name as Julia Jean Turner.

Witnesses were Walter Quinton, who flew them from Hollywood, and Danny Akers, a tax-driver.

TAVERNS BURGLARIZED

DePere, Wis. — (U)— Pabst machines in two local taverns were robbed early today by burglars who escaped with $300.

House Committee Cuts 111 Million From Naval Fund

Hull Against Resolution to Invoke Neutrality Act in War Between China and Japan

Washington — (U)— Secretary Hull has expressed state department disapproval of a resolution to invoke the neutrality act in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee disclosed this today, saying further that the committee probably would consider Hull's opinion as reflecting the state department's views not only on the Far Eastern conflict but also on the undeclared war between Finland and Russia.

Although Pittman declined to make the letter public, he said it was apparent Hull felt that the peace and security of the United States were not directly involved in either of the undeclared conflicts and for that reason did not favor invocation of the neutrality act, which would greatly restrict American dealings with the belligerents.

Up to Subcommittee

The Hull letter will be considered when a subcommittee takes up a resolution by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) to set in motion congressional machinery to place the neutrality act in operation in the Far Eastern war, Chairman George (D-Ga.) said the subcommittee might meet tomorrow.

The senate banking committee delayed action on a subcommittee proposal that the treasury discontinue purchases of foreign silver. Matters of foreign policy were said by Majority Leader Barkley to be involved.

Counsel for house investigators of the labor board raised the point that federal law prohibits use of government money to influence congress—after he had developed testimony that the labor board sanctioned agitation against cuts in its appropriations.

The congressional session which leaders hoped wistfully would be short and harmonious ended its sixth week today, with the two prime topics—federal economy and foreign relations—still in the talking stage.

The senate was winding up debate on extension of financial aid to Finland. It scheduled a vote by 5 p. m. (4 p. m. C.S.T.) on a measure.

Coloma Banker Loses Fight to Avoid Sentence

Bartz Must Serve One to Seven Years on Charges Of Embezzling

Madison — (U)— The supreme court today affirmed the conviction of H. F. Bartz, Coloma, who was sentenced to Waupun prison for one to seven years on charges of embezzling $2,667.28 from the Coloma State bank, of which he was president.

The court passed upon Bartz' case for a second time, having granted him a new trial a year ago after he had been found guilty before the late Judge Byron B. Park at Stevens Point July 19, 1938, on six counts of violating the banking laws.

In the second trial, held before Judge George J. Leicht at Wausau on a change of venue in May, 1939, the defendant was convicted on three counts.

False Entries Charged

Bartz and Alan A. Gibbs, former cashier of the bank, were alleged to have issued a false certificate of deposit and to have made false entries to cover an agreement with Gust Wabeshal, a depositor at the time the bank was reorganized in 1935. Gibbs later was sentenced to prison.

Under the reorganization plan the bank segregated 50 per cent of all deposits in a fund to be held in trust and made the balance payable on demand. Wabeshal had about $5,000 on deposit.

The testimony showed Bartz and Gibbs obtained Wabeshal's consent only by personally guaranteeing payment of the amount placed in the segregated fund, although they did not have the money to back the guarantee. Bartz contended Gibbs was solely responsible for the false certificate of deposit issued when Wabeshal demanded payment, but the supreme court held there was no ground to upset the jury's finding that he too was guilty.

For Larger Ships

"The committee is of the opinion that definite advantage will be secured by making the new capital ships and the additional cruisers not equal to, but superior to, any pending foreign construction," the committee asserted.

"As a foremost nation of the world, the United States is charged with a high degree of responsibility for the maintenance of our peace. This responsibility requires a policy of construction which does not confine itself to imitation of other nations."

"Its economic strength and its position of leadership among the nations of the world demand such ships and in such numbers as will maintain a preponderance of power and thus insure the security and peace of the United States."

Alexander Winter Home Burglarized in Florida

Miami Beach, Fla. — (U)— Police investigated today a report that burglars stole $13,200 worth of jewelry and $115 in cash from the winter residence of J. S. Alexander of Wausau, Wis.

Alexander listed the stolen articles as a string of 155 pearls valued at $5,000, two rings worth $2,500, a $700 diamond bar pin, all insured, and a $5,000 platinum cup set with diamonds and a large emerald.

The platinum brooch, he said, was owned by a house guest, Mrs. George E. Foster of Wausau, and was uninsured.

Pendergast Machine, Beaten In One Political Battle, Is Facing Another Test of Power

Kansas City — (U)— The ailing Pendergast machine, admittedly whipped on an earlier amendment to the city charter, talked "round a fire" department civil service proposal today to show its strength.

The earlier amendment would cut terms of elective city officials from four years to two, thus ending the reign of the machine-controlled city council in April.

Heading the concerted voice of reform groups, the Pendergast Democratic faction, now headed by Jim Pendergast, nephew of imprisoned Boss Tom, announced it would support the amendment.

Many believe, however, that the machine is merely holding back for the election of new officials in April on the theory it would be as easy—perhaps easier—to elect them for two years as four. The machine still is strong in its ward organization.

The result has been to throw the civil service proposal forward as a test of machine strength.

The proposal was advanced by the firemen themselves.

Opponents say it is an attempt to blanket political appointees into life-long jobs.

Urges Warships 'Superior' to Those Built Abroad

CAN MEET NEEDS

Reduction Sharpest in Any Single Budget Recommendation

Washington — (U)— A $111,699,699 slash was made in President Roosevelt's budget for the navy today by a house committee which recommended appropriations of $966,772,878 and urged that the nation build battleships and cruisers "superior" to those abroad.

The cut, from the president's figure of $1,078,472,577, was the largest yet made by the appropriations committee in any single budget recommendation, but the committee said the fleet's needs could be "adequately met" with the smaller sum.

(The president's budget figure of $1,078,472,577 included funds which he classified as emergency national defense expenditures. These were responsible for the difference between that figure and a $964,000,000 request by the navy to finance its normal, non-emergency operation and construction.)

Included in the measure was $1,000,000 to start work on a $3,000,000 project designed to develop the tiny, Pacific island of Guam as a naval "lookout" post. Guam improvements were turned down by congress last year after a heated controversy involving questions of foreign policy toward Japan.

Other Reductions

In sending the navy bill to the house floor the committee also cut $16,316,250 from the amount of "contract authorizations" recommended in the budget. With such authorizations the navy may contract for work to be paid for later. Thus the total decrease in the amount the navy could spend or obligate in the fiscal year beginning July 1 amounted to $128,015,949.

While allowing money to start work on 19 new combat ships and five auxiliaries, the committee cut $7,350,000 from the sums recommended for two new battleships and two cruisers.

While $2,950,000 will be sufficient for the navy to proceed with plans for the ships, the committee said, it should be determined before construction actually begins that the ships will be superior to those of other nations.

For Larger Ships

"The committee is of the opinion that definite advantage will be secured by making the new capital ships and the additional cruisers not equal to, but superior to, any pending foreign construction," the committee asserted.

"As a foremost nation of the world, the United States is charged with a high degree of responsibility for the maintenance of our peace. This responsibility requires a policy of construction which does not confine itself to imitation of other nations."

"Its economic strength and its position of leadership among the nations of the world demand such ships and in such numbers as will maintain a preponderance of power and thus insure the security and peace of the United States."

Death-Bed Marriage Upheld in Illinois Fight Over Estate

Springfield, Ill. — (U)— The Illinois Supreme Court today affirmed the validity of the death-bed marriage of David E. Shanahan, late speaker of the state house of representatives, to his secretary, Miss Helen Treesch.

The supreme court upheld a decision of the Cook county circuit court. The case was appealed by Misses Mary and Margaret Flynn, co-heirs of the late speaker who left the bulk of his $300,000 estate to a widow under terms of a will executed in 1924.

The money will become available immediately for expenditure before June 30.

Former Judge Loses in Suit to Collect Fees

Madison — (U)— M. P. Axelberg, Racine county judge from 1934 to 1937, failed in the supreme court today in an attempt to collect $320 from the county for examining applicants for admission to public tuberculosis sanatoria.

The position he held normally paid $1,500 for acting as county judge and $800 as juvenile judge, without any fees at all, but the salary for the latter duties was cut to $500, making a total of $1,000 a year. The court overruled his contention he was entitled to fees because of the pay cut.

Criticizes Views Of Labor Board on Extent of Powers

Madden's Answers in Inquiry Open Subject for Debate, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — To what extent should persons who act on behalf of the government in a judicial capacity solicit favors from organizations or individuals which appear before them from time to time to have cases decided?

To what extent should members of so-called quasi-judicial commissions engage in direct lobbying to influence congress not to alter their own dictatorial powers?

To what extent should the National Labor Relations board intervene as between local unions of the American Federation of Labor and its executive council and bring about friction between the locals and the patent institution?

These three questions which touch very deeply the judicial integrity of the quasi-judicial commission, as an institution of government, have been answered by Chairman J. Warren Madden of the labor board in a manner which opens the subject widely for debate.

If the quasi-judicial commission is to be regarded as having judicial power—and only yesterday the supreme court of the United States unanimously declared that "findings of fact" by the labor board were not subject to court review—then it is of the utmost importance to examine the quality of minds which exercise power on governmental commissions and boards.

Shows Views

Mr. Madden was being interrogated the other day by Representative Howard Smith, chairman of the house committee which is investigating the labor board, and his testimony which is a matter of record shows how the "properties" are viewed by the quasi-judicial commission.

First, on the subject of lobbying, Mr. Madden confessed that he had not discouraged the organizing work done by an outsider, with his knowledge and tact consent, to line up the various regional directors of the labor board to collect witnesses and send telegrams to congressmen and senators to persuade them not to amend the Wagner law.

Likewise, Mr. Madden thought it was all right for labor union officials to lobby so that appropriations for the board covering salaries and allowances would be put through. In other words, a lobby to obtain personal financial benefit was not looked upon by Mr. Madden as an improper activity on the part of labor board employees, even when the solicitation of help went out to prominent union officials who stood to benefit by labor board rulings and decisions.

Then, Mr. Madden also revealed that he saw nothing wrong in letting the local regional officers and employees of the labor board line up American Federation of Labor local unions so as to show that William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, was not speaking for the rank and file of his organization when the favored amendments to the Wagner act.

Undermining

To build thus a backfire beneath the executive of a labor union by undermining him with his constituency and to go so far as to machine the government of the United States is considered a proper course of action by Chairman Madden. The test, more than in part, Chairman Smith's function, as I see it, is to ascertain the act as congress sees it, to go to it, and if congress sees it to be wrong, to amend it.

I am wondering whether you think it is appropriate for your board, either directly or indirectly, to engage in a lobbying campaign, against amendments and try to bring pressure on congress to oppose amendments. I would like you to go into that further if you can find it.

"Mr. Madden, well, I don't know what the properties of the thing ought to be. I know that we are dealing with a very confused constituency, a constituency which is not very expert in these matters, a constituency where councils are very much divided, and there was a great deal of evidence which came to us in one way or another that the official position of the American Federation of Labor was not the position of a great deal of the membership of the American Federation of Labor."

Mr. Madden later declared as his "constituencies" the people "who have the protection of the act," and explained the letters sent to regional directors of the labor board with the knowledge and approval of Chairman Madden had as their primary purpose "to let it be known to the congressmen what these people really think, and not what some spokesman for them might say they think." At this point Representative

Scout Training Course Will be Held at Eland

Eland — A boy scout training course will open here Thursday night, with Herb Helling, Appleton, chairman of the valley council leadership training committee, and Lloyd Pinkowsky, Clintonville, in charge. The course, leading up to the founding of a scout troop, will be covered in three meetings.

A.A.L. Men to Attend Fraternal Conference

Alex O. Benz, president of the Aid Association for Lutherans, William H. Zuehlke, and J. D. Reeder will attend the midwinter meeting of the National Fraternal congress next week at Chicago. The meeting will be held Feb. 20-22.

At another point in the same day's testimony, representative Routzohn of Ohio, Republican, was questioning Mr. Madden about lining up union leaders to help persuade congress to appropriate funds for the board.

"Don't you think that perhaps by these organizations being solicited they were being put in a rather embarrassing position if they would refuse to send in communications such as were requested?"

"Yes, I think so," replied Mr. Madden.

"What do you think of the propriety of the thing?"

"I think," said Mr. Madden, "There is a question about the propriety of anyone asking a person or organization which has to appear before him and have its affairs determined by him, for anything."

"Had you considered the propriety of that sort of activity at the time that this was being done, or are you just thinking of it now?"

"I suppose some thought was given to the propriety of it then."

"If you had any doubts about the propriety, why didn't you resolve it in favor of the doubts?"

"The alternative," answered Mr. Madden, "was to resolve it in favor of destroying this enterprise. We have regarded ourselves—although our people have jobs out of this enterprise (the labor board) and are to that extent interested in it, in addition to that—as trustees of this enterprise for the benefit of those who are to be protected by this law."

"And you think that that justified you in doing something that was an inappropriate thing, that is, soliciting something from those who had to deal with you week in and week out through the administration of this act?"

"Well, that was our justification for it, congressman," answered Mr. Madden.

This record shows that the members of the labor board feel they can go to unions or individuals who are beneficiaries of their decisions and put themselves under obligation to them to help them keep their positions and salaries and their vast authority over employer-employee relations in America. Small wonder congress is being asked to consider seriously the future status of the so-called quasi-judicial commission or board under the American system of government.

Forest Laboratory Finds New Way of Making Newsprint

Madison—C. P. Winslow, director of the United States Forest Products Laboratory here, announced Monday discovery of an improved method of producing newsprint paper in the south at lower cost.

"The forest products laboratory," he said, "has recently made newsprint paper by mixing unbleached semi-chemical pulp from southern gum trees with groundwood pulp from southern pine."

The gum semi-chemical pulp, he explained, replaced the more expensive sulfite pulp component of ordinary newsprint, or the semi-bleached kraft pulp now used with pine groundwood to produce southern newsprint.

Since approximately three-fourths of newsprint paper used in the United States is imported largely from Canada, the new process applied on a commercial scale would give impetus to the growth of the southern newsprint industry.

"Owing principally to its higher yield, the cost per ton of semi-chemical pulp should be appreciably lower than that of either sulfite or semi-bleached kraft pulp, and possibly no greater than for groundwood," Winslow said.

"Secondly, gum is one of the southern hardwoods which constitute about one-half the total for-

State May Create Brand of Higher Quality Cheese

Special Grade Suggested For Factories Conforming to Conditions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—A new method of encouraging production of higher quality American cheese in Wisconsin factories was suggested to the cheese industry today by the state department of agriculture. Cheesemakers operating qualified factories and who are willing to age their cheese for 90 days will be entitled to a special state grade showing that it is "certified state graded American cheese," according to Ralph E. Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture and markets.

The proposal is contained in the draft of a tentative revised order setting forth regulations for the American cheese industry. Following hearings at Marshfield on Feb. 20 and Fond du Lac on March 1, the new proposal and others in the suggested order will be before the state board of agriculture for adoption.

List Conditions

The new brand will be offered to those cheesemakers who are willing to follow the following conditions, and it will be available only from a state grader who must always keep the stencils in his possession:
1. Flavor: Besides being pleasing to the taste it should have a clean fresh butter flavor with an added quality of its own, sometimes described as nutty, and be free from undesirable or unclear flavors or odors.
2. Texture: The cheese shall be compact or close or medium close, free from gas or shot holes, but a few mechanical holes shown on a plug or cut surface are permitted.
3. Color: The color shall be uniform throughout and bright.
4. Body: The body shall be firm, smooth, silky and waxy.
5. Finish and appearance: The cheese shall be clean, neatly banded, and of even height. The rind shall be close, smooth, and dry on all surfaces. Where more than one cheese is packed in a box, the various cheeses of the same style packed in such box shall be of uniform size and weight as prescribed for that style of cheese.

Interprets Farley's Move as Meaning President Won't Run

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Indirectly Postmaster General James A. Farley has thrown some light into the dark recesses of the third-term mystery. Explanations of why the Democratic national chairman is entering the Massachusetts presidential primary are as numerous as Republican Lincoln day speeches, and not much more enlightening. The most plausible interpretation is that Mr. Farley is confident that President Roosevelt will not accept renomination.

Mr. Farley has authorized the Massachusetts state Democratic chairman to file a slate of Farley-for-president delegates in the Massachusetts presidential preference primary to be held April 30.

In announcing that action, the Massachusetts chairman, William H. Burke, Jr., said he believed that Mr. Farley's decision to file as an active candidate had the approval of President Roosevelt. As the state chairman denied he had heard from the White House directly, he must have got it from Jim.

Some have suggested that Mr. Farley was going into Massachusetts as a cat-paw for President Roosevelt, with the idea of turning the delegation over to the third-termers. I doubt if that is the case.

Mr. Farley's views about a third term are widely known in Washington. He is against it. He believes that a third-term race would split the party. Anyway he never has believed that Mr. Roosevelt intended to run. That is Mr. Farley's position as understood all over Washington. He is a square shooter, and if he has any other idea in the back of his head it would amaze a good many people here.

If the game were simply to tie up another state for Mr. Roosevelt, there would be no need for Jim Farley to double-cross himself on account of Massachusetts. The state chairman could simply have filed a slate of Roosevelt delegates as is being done next door in New Hampshire and Illinois and Wisconsin.

Perhaps the President Gave Postmaster General 'The Wink'

It is entirely possible that Mr. Roosevelt has given Mr. Farley the wink. The chairman's confidence is difficult to understand otherwise. It might be thought by some that Mr. Farley hopes to run as vice president on a Roosevelt ticket. There would be no point in having a ticket composed of two New Yorkers, particularly since under the twelfth amendment to the constitution one of them would have to sacrifice the large electoral vote of New York state. It is specified that presidential electors shall vote for president and vice president, "one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves."

By keeping the third-term threat alive and thus evoking a show of support for it, he has kept the anti-Roosevelt elements subdued and has increased the chances of the convention going along his desired path as to candidates and platform.

Second, many around Mr. Roosevelt thought that his control over congress would be stronger if he remained in the presidential picture.

Third, so long as he remains a potential occupant of the White House for another four years, his voice is stronger in Europe, and in the Far East. If there is any hope at all in the forthcoming trip to Europe of Under Secretary of State

Automobiles Kill 62,000 Birds, Animals in State During Year

Madison—Operating without closed seasons and bag limits, Wisconsin men and women armed with automobiles are taking an enormous toll of wildlife annually, sample figures collected by the state conservation department show.

Conservation Warden O. K. Johnson, Shawano, supplied figures compiled by Ed Bartel, Shawano county patrolman, showing the toll over a period of a year on a 21 mile stretch of highway. Bartel counted a fatality list of 17 pheasants, eight squirrels, six partridges, seven muskrats, 14 rabbits, four skunks, one raccoon and four owls. This meant an average of 294 wildlife individuals killed per mile. Wisconsin has 24,455 miles of state and county trunk highways. If the Shawano rate of kill were applicable to highways generally it would mean the annual slaughter of about 62,000 wild birds and animals by automobiles. The Shawano county toll did not include any deer but deer are frequent highway casualties elsewhere. Bartel reports that he also counted 42 cats, 19 dogs and 23 chickens killed on this same stretch of 21 miles during the year.

Walter Scott of the department's game division reports that in driving 160 miles in southwestern Wisconsin on Jan. 28, he counted 59 dead rabbits in the road, one rabbit to every four miles. The rabbits apparently had all been killed since the snow storm that had swept Wisconsin about 15 days before the count was made.

A number of autoists have reported that they have killed from three to a half dozen wildlife individuals on a day's drive.

BAPTISM AT CHURCH

Weyauwega—Dwaine Arnold was the name given to the new son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bork. He was baptized by the Rev. Max Hensel at the St. Peter's Lutheran church Sunday. A christening

Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage was taken from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Even though you aver that the material senses are indispensable to man's existence or utility, you must change the human concept of life, and must at length know yourself spiritually and scientifically. For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, name, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since life cannot be united to its likeness, mortality."

U.S. ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION OFF FOR YEAR'S SURVEY

SLED DOGS...YEAR'S SUPPLY OF SLOW-BURNING CAMEL CIGARETTES ACCOMPANY ADMIRAL BYRD TO ANTARCTIC

OFF TO VOLUNTARY EXILE: Right now if you had to choose the one and only brand of cigarette you would smoke through a whole year—you'd make sure you picked the right brand. The men on the Antarctic expedition were in a situation like that. The expedition took Camels! Rear Admiral Richard F. Byrd explained: "Slow-burning Camels are a great favorite with us." You, yourself, may never go near the South Pole, but the right cigarette is important to you, too. Camels give you extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor—plus extra smoking in every pack. (See below.)

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel at right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

"MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF...MORE PUFFS PER PACK"...
That's how these three members of the U. S. Antarctic expedition tell of the advantages of their favorite cigarette...slow-burning Camels. Richard Moulton, senior dog-driver (center), sums up when he says: "Slow burning is my measure of a milder, cooler, more flavorful smoke. I'd sledge a mile for a Camel." Nothing destroys a cigarette's delicate elements of flavor and fragrance like the excess heat of too-fast burning. Cigarettes that burn fast also burn hot. Camels are slower-burning...milder, mellower, and—naturally—cooler! Try Camels. Find out for yourself how slow-burning Camels give you more pleasure per puff...and more puffs per pack—more actual smoking (see panel extreme right).

Individual, Team Records Broken In Pin Circuits

Earl Frappy Hits Eight Straight Strikes in 253 Game

New London — League records fell and individual marks neared all-time heights as keggers slashed the tenpins in Prah's alleys last night.

Earl Frappy pounded eight strikes in a row to collect a 253 game and 621 total for Mikes Tavern in the Goodfellowship league. His first two lines were 178 and 190. The squad beat the Post Office led by W. A. Ross with a 236 line and 542 total.

Lewis Thomas, a newcomer to the Cedar Lawn Dairies, smashed a 546 series with two games of 204 and 211 to lead the quint to a new circuit team record of 990 pins. Les Werner banged out a 246 single and 559 total for the Fords while they lost two to the Dairy-men.

K. C. League

All existing marks in the Knights of Columbus loop were smothered when Bill Sern, Sr., posted a game of 241 and a 559 total to boost the team marks of the Explorers to new highs, a 909 game and 2430 series. The Explorers won three matches from the trailing Conquerors but the Crusaders maintained their leadership with two victories over the Voyagers.

Hortonville-Medina League

Harold Strebick laced up a 215 game for tops in the loop and led Hodgins Quarry to two new all-season records for the out-of-town boys with an 847 game and 2412 total. The squad took three from Byrons Lunch to keep in front while the Chev Garages tied the losers for second by trimming Mikes Garages of Medina three games.

Lions Club League

Dr. George Polzin riled a 572 series with games of 210, 168 and 194 but failed to make any record marks. He paced the Twisters as the team tied its own former high game of 906 and dropped two games to the Roarers despite a better squad total, 2499 to 2396. The wins give the Roarers an equal share of first place with the losers. Ralph Hanson collected a 207 single and 537 triple to lead the Growlers in two triumphs over the Tamers.

Pegler Likes Pinnocchio So Well He Runs Out of Words

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — All my superlatives were used up on Walt Disney's last picture, the Snow White show, so that this one, Pinnocchio, catches me without symbols fit for the occasion. Perhaps I should make up some as the late Joe Humphreys used to do in some of his orations from the Garden ring or borrow one of his.

One night when Tammany hall had appointed one of the faithful to an important post in Madison Square Garden, a beef-sloak and beer brawl was flung to solemnize the occasion in the private de-bauching, drinking and falling unconscious-on-the-floor room designed for the relaxation and segregation of Tex Rickard's six hundred millionaires.

This party was of that degree of elegance and charm known to the chivalry of the Tammany organization as an affair which is not to be confused with a racket. An affair is where you got to get invited or you can't get in, whereas a racket is where anybody can get in just so they buy a ticket, and if you don't buy plenty of tickets how would you like a broken leg?

Anyway, Mr. Humphreys presided, and, according to his own custom, divided his oration into two fairly even parts. In the first part he would pay many wholesome if rugged and woefully inadequate compliments to his wit, wisdom, fine spirits and capacity for loyal friendship "through thick and thin, taking the bitter with the sweet." This would be followed by summaries of the fine personal qualities of the distinguished slysters, boot-leggers and political extortioners and thieves who chanced to adorn the occasion.

On the occasion I now recall, Mr. Humphreys, without warning, took off into space on a joyous and utterly unprovoked flight of adulation of that greatest little pal, that greatest little mayor and friend of the wonderful, manly sport of fistiana where clean-limbed young Americans regardless of creed or color, develop their character and self-reliance, with fame and fortune hanging in the balance, that world's champion of wonderful pals through sunshine or sorrow, James J. Walker, who wasn't even there.

"Positively Infidictious" Goes Double For This One

The mention of Mr. Walker's name evoked prolonged cheers, attended by the throwing of hard-shell rolls and olives and banging of steins containing nutritious if immature beer from the immune brewery of Mr. Owmie Madden, another great little pal and the sweetest character, too, when you got to know him. At the lower end of the table a noted jury fixer got into a fight with a black-mailer specializing in insurance on boom-time building construction over the dead-ly but obviously imponderable issue of which one knew Mayor Walker better and loved him more. Ignoring this diversion, Mr. Humphreys continued to soar in the rare, pure atmosphere of his own admiration for Mr. Walker until presently, as was his wont sometimes, when common language proved inadequate, he began to gibber in sports. His gibberish, flung to the world unexpectedly amid a context of more or less standard English was too elusive in sound and too soon gone to be transcribed, which is a pity, for there was a beauty beyond the poor power of book words. They were precious sounds, rather than mere words, appropriate only to the emotion of the particular instant in the whole length of time, and once uttered, were gone.

Mr. Disney's Snow White put me in a state two years ago, and my praise, written in an emotional condition, was the only document of the kind of which I have never felt a willingness to retract at least a little. Yet, on seeing Pinnocchio, I have a sense that the same terms applied to this marvelously beautiful and nimble creation would seem surly.

Only one of Mr. Humphreys' improved words ever remained with me. It was not one of his very best, but it may give you an idea. At the climax of his eulogy Mr. Humphreys declared that Mr. Walker was not only noble, generous, brave, kind, wise, honest, and loyal to the last gasp, but was positively infidictious.

My friends, for Pinnocchio that goes double.

New Deal Dreams Cause of Crisis, Republicans Told

Col. William Maas Speaks At Winnebago County Lincoln Day Dinner

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — "We are a people of dreams," said the speaker at the present administration Colonel William Maas, executive secretary to Governor Hef, told about 100 Republicans at a Lincoln day dinner here last night.

"Yes, and the successful of dreams which they have been blowing in our face the past few years has been put away and we now have a serious financial crisis that is greater than we can imagine," Maas continued. "We as Republicans must take start and begin to be concerned in the past few years. In private business, we have a manager that has been money over his signature, consequently until the books show a profit of millions of dollars spent for every four put in — we take stock of the management and turn over a new rule and start with a different management. May God bless America! This situation continues, and I say it is not because it is a bad party in office, but I would say it is even if the party in office today were Republicans."

Relative to the "new" question, Maas stated that the public was told in 1932 and 1933 that men would be made rich by way of tariffs, and then the speaker cited cases of foreign products made the "un-American way" of low labor wages and standards.

"The America of Abraham Lincoln and our early building projects were not built on a free trade plan," Maas said.

"I believe high wages and everything that will put the American workman on a living basis higher than that of other countries will increase the demand for more American produce and merchandise."

Maas was introduced to the county Republicans by Dio W. Damm, member of the board of directors, Neenah. Other county Republicans introduced at the meeting included: Chester D. Shepard, Menasha, district chairman; Elmer Radtke, Neenah, district treasurer; Norton Williams, Neenah; and Milton Boehm, chairman of the Neenah Young Republican group.

Neenah Club Hears Strange Describe Paper Institute

Neenah — John Strange of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Appleton, said in a talk at the noon luncheon of the Neenah club Monday that "intellectual isolation" is the most difficult thing to overcome in the proper function of the institution.

The institute needs an appreciation of its work as well as a translation of it into the mills; otherwise, that part of the institute would be without much use.

He pointed out that "intellectual isolation" is overcome by placing students from the institute in mills, personal contacts of institute faculty members with men in the mills, bulletins and conferences.

Strange told Neenah club members that the institute is observing its tenth anniversary this month. In 10 years, the institution has grown from 3 students to 34 and the number of students is purposely kept low. When it started, the membership of the institute was limited to 19 mills. Now 64 companies operating 350 mills are members.

Industrial Science

In the educational objective, the institute recognizes the new profession of industrial science. He pointed out that when students given a general training in science graduate, they are confused, for they have no specific training with which to start in industry. The institute specifically trains them for the paper industry, and it also eliminates for industry the large amount of turnover in employment.

For admission into the graduate school, a student must have a bachelor of science or a chemical engineering degrees, including four years of chemistry, two years of physics, a reading knowledge of German, mathematics and be in the upper 10 per cent of his class. The school selects 16 out of 300 to 400 applicants every year, and students from 30 states and 80 institutions have attended. He said that a large number of the students are from non paper-making sections of the country.

Research for the students, that conducted by members of the staff of their own initiative, for member mills and allied industries was outlined as was research into other branches of science, such as plastics and rayon.

Stating that other industries are planning to develop similar institutes, Strange explained how it was possible for the paper industry to do this work. He said that there is a small number of paper mills, from 600 to 700, as compared to other industries, making it easier for contacts. Also, an institute of this kind requires a good basis of good will, a need for trust in members.

Variety of Army Courses are Open, Auxiliary Is Told

National Defense Chairman Explains Training Opportunities

Neenah—Neenah boys may enroll in the National Guard, the Citizens Military Training camps and the R.O.T.C., Mrs. T. D. Smith, national defense chairman, told members of the Auxiliary to the James P. Hawley post, American Legion, in a talk at the Auxiliary meeting Monday evening in S. A. Cook armory. Boys of 18 and over may join the National Guard with Neenah offering them the choice of two companies. Company I which is strictly a battle company, training for actual front line duty in case of war with drill and rifle practice predominant, and Headquarters company which concentrates mostly on marksmanship, sending of messages and wire work.

A boy of 17 is eligible to join one of the C.M.T.C. Camps which were organized in 1921 under provisions of the National Defense act of 1920. They are administered by the army for a 30-day period each summer at army posts throughout the United States. All expenses are paid by the government. More than half a million boys have been trained in these camps.

Other Fields
If a boy attends a school which has the Reserve Officers Training corps, he may attend a few hours each week. The R.O.T.C. was authorized in the National Defense Act of 1916 which provided for military instruction in colleges and universities. Since their inception, many high schools have incorporated the R.O.T.C. units. Thirty seven high schools in Chicago have such units.

Boys may also attend West Point as well as military schools such as St. John's Military Academy at Delaware.

Colored movies of the University of Wisconsin R.O.T.C. unit on dress parade and scenes at the St. John's academy were shown. Lieutenant Waldemar Olson demonstrated the walkie radio type of communication.

Donations to the Finnish Relief fund and to the Louise Wilson Scholarship fund were voted by the auxiliary.

Big Audience Hears Talk by Aimee Zillmer

STANDING room only was available long before Aimee Zillmer, lecturer for the state board of health, opened the second in her series of lectures on "Courtship and Marriage" Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Zillmer said that the first part of the engagement period should be used to think things out clearly and cold-bloodedly, and after the girl decided definitely that her mate was all she wanted him to be, then the last part of the engagement could be as brief and as hectic as she wanted it.

Young couples should choose the type of wedding they want without undue pressure from relatives and friends, Miss Zillmer continued. The type of home they wish to maintain is entirely their affair, she said, and the honeymoon should be spent in surroundings as close to normal living as possible.

Faigue from too many engagement parties and money troubles often start young people off on the wrong foot, she declared.

"An exciting and expensive honeymoon spent traveling in unusual places and too much emphasis on night club life make it hard for young married people to adjust themselves to everyday living when they return home," Miss Zillmer explained.

She said a bride should buy the things for her home that she wants most but she should not try to keep up with the Joneses; that the husband should have some voice in the choosing of household equipment; and that unless the circumstances are unusual, young couples should not live with their "in-laws," no matter how poor their own establishment has to be.

There will be two more lectures by Miss Zillmer, "Sex Side of Marriage" and "Making the Most of Marriage."

Just as Vital For Defender To Count Cards

BY ELY CULBERTSON

A careful "counting out of the hand" is just as necessary to a defender as to a declarer. In point of fact, not only is it as necessary, but since it is a much easier process there is less excuse for a defender to go astray in the card department.

Most of the "tactical" errors executed by wily declarers depend for their success on a failure to count by one or two defenders. In a hand as good as the one in this point.

No deal.

Marriage Shouldn't Affect Teacher's Status, Patri Says

BY ANGELO PATRI

Marriage, or spinsterhood, is no basis for selection of teachers. A teacher should be appointed on the basis of fitness for the work she is to do, and nothing else. The married teacher is just as efficient as the unmarried one when she is efficient, and she is just as inefficient as the spinster when she is inefficient. Marriage makes no difference in the quality of the teacher's mind. It is likely to improve her attitudes toward life, and toward children in particular. But it neither makes nor mars her.

Some women are material in their attitudes toward all children and marriage does not make that attitude, nor does it change it. The best teacher for handicapped children that I ever met was a single woman, but a mother to all the helpless suffering ones who came her way. Marriage might have heightened that attitude, but I doubt it. I think it was quite perfect as it was.

My point about the whole matter is that efficiency for the job is what decides the validity of an appointment. Married or single, if the teacher can teach with quality in her teaching, the job is hers if she can get it.

First Consideration

I have found no validity in the statement so often made that married women teachers ought to get out and let their husbands support them, and leave the younger girls a chance.

Married women teach to earn money and they earn money because they need it. They work to support their families and dependents, all of them up and running.

The married woman who teaches for the fun of it is a rare bird.

If a choice between two women is made on the basis of need, we ought to investigate the financial situation of every candidate and give the places to the most needy. That would leave the children out of consideration, of course, but they have been left out by those who bar a teacher when she is married. This would give those who had the greatest burden of dependents first place, regardless of efficiency. This would be hard on the children to pass up the highest qualified ones in favor of those in greatest need, but you cannot think of the children's welfare in terms of jobs. Don't you see it won't work?

Number of Teachers

One thing must be seriously considered. When we bar women teachers because of marriage and maternity we deprive ourselves of the services of experienced teachers, or we deprive ourselves of the children who might be born to a group of the most intelligent people we have. That in itself is something to make us consider a long time before making marriage and maternity synonymous with a resignation from the service.

The resignations of the married teachers will not provide places for all the young teachers on the lists today. Other ways must be found. Many school boards could employ almost double their number of teachers by reducing the class registers, by appointing teachers on the basis of school registration, and by retiring old and tired and sick teachers on pensions big enough to enable them to live decently.

There is no sense in picking on the married women teachers. To carry that idea out you would have to go down the line, and that involves men teachers as well as women in the "needy" cases, and that won't work.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Once a year a day is set aside for the expression of love or admiration. February 14th has become the most romantic day on our calendar, and woe to the male who lets it slip by without expressing his love to the lady whose affection he desires!

All the florists in the country, and all the cosmetic firms, have extended every effort to make his task an easy one, for fragrant cosmetics and lovely perfume are especially packaged in entrancing hearts or valentine packages, and every flower in the land awaits his selection to carry his earnest message to the fairest of maidens.

What girl wouldn't be pleased if the postman brought her a valentine of a lush perfume nestled in a lace package and tied up with gay pink or red ribbons? Or a package of bath luxuries such as scented soap, floral colognes, exquisite bath powder, or bath fragrance in the form of oil, salts, powder or effervescent crystals?

Naturally valentines are not limited to pretty young maidens. Mothers, and wives, sisters, school teachers and grandmothers also rate a fragrant remembrance on this day. And your local cosmetic counter has a nice array of gifts from which you may select one suitable to the age and temperament of the lady who is to be remembered.

Specific Perfume Suggestions

To my desk has come four specific perfume suggestions for Valentine Day. One is a dram of perfume resting on a velvet heart sachet which may be tied to a clothes hanger or slipped among one's lingerie.

Another firm, considering a young man's budget, offers an attractive card valentine to which is attached a dram of lovely perfume—a choice of three fragrances. The card is prepared for mailing (well packed) and the price is a single dollar.

Red, white and blue is the color scheme of another package which holds a half-ounce of a very popular fragrance, and the proverbial speared heart carries one's message of love.

If you want an answer to your very important question, you might see that your passion gets a dram val of special perfume in a very delightful, old-fashioned lace valentine. The "R. S. V. P." which is on the valentine, is persuasive enough for any lady to say "Yes!"

Of course, an elegant thought, and an elegant gesture, is to send both perfume and flowers. An exquisite little corsage is a charming receptacle for a vial of her favorite brew, and your florist will assist you with your unique problem.

If your budget can stand only flowers, see that those you send are unusual. Florists have come to their senses at last and have learned to fashion exquisite bouquets and necklaces, cuffs and corsages, from flowers you never heard of. Roses, orchids and gardenias are no longer the only "three" to send a fair damsel!

Would you like my spring and summer perfume list? Write for it care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you request it.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Here is a girl who is an excellent stenographer. But she lost her job because she wasn't also a good psychologist. The time has come when it is not enough to be a skilled mechanic or a well trained technical worker. You need this foundation, plus. And the "plus" factor is a good knowledge of applied psychology. Read about the 200 New York City dentists on relief. And there are more physicians on relief in that city than dentists!

CASE P-180: Lena G., aged 21, has just lost her job as stenographer. "It's all because we have a woman supervisor who is an old meany," Lena angrily exclaimed.

"She snoop around looking for mistakes, and gets it in for the girls who do good looking or have plenty of boy friends."

"She plays favorites, too. If you fail to rub her fur the right way, she will scheme until she catches you in error and then will see that you are discharged."

"Dr. Crane, my typing and shorthand were as good as those of the other girls. What can I do to avoid this kind of trouble?"

DIAGNOSIS: People used to feel that if they had a trade or stenographic skill or a law degree, they would immediately fall into luxurious jobs with lifetime salaries.

That was the old viewpoint, which doesn't hold nowadays. Even if you are a superlative stenographer, and can typewrite most swiftly and accurately, you still must sell yourself to some employer.

After you land your job, you must learn how to get along with your fellow workers. Plenty of physicians and lawyers and engineers are on relief or almost starving today, not because they haven't excellent technical skill, but because they cannot sell that skill.

I am not exaggerating in the above statement. In New York City I was recently informed that 200 dentists are on relief, drawing $1,200 per year for routine school examinations.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

SOUFFLES ARE SIMPLE

I say souffles are simple because they really are. They are made of simple, everyday ingredients. Cooked vegetables, meat, fish and cheese make delicious ones for luncheon, and the sweet ones have as many variations as there are flavors. All of them have a cream sauce for a base and varying quantities of eggs to the puffing.

Miss Schneider Souffles are a tricky and difficult to make only if you don't know the rules. Learn the rules and play fair—and soon you'll be listing these frothy, fairylike delicacies among your old reliables.

Rule One. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Rule Two. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold in egg whites, don't stir them in. Rule Three. Long, slow cooking in a moderate oven. Rule Four. Never, no matter what happens, take your souffle out of the oven until just the instant you're ready to serve it. Once you've learned the secrets of souffle making, you'll want to try lots of different kinds.

Cheese And Corn Souffle

4 tablespoons 1 cup grated mild butter

4 tablespoons 1 cup drained whole kernel corn

1 teaspoon salt 3 eggs

1 cup milk 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

Melt the butter in a saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour and salt and remove from heat. Add cold milk slowly, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the cheese, bread crumbs and corn and cook until cheese is melted, stirring all the time. Then remove from heat and blend in slightly beaten egg yolks. Beat whites until frothy, add cream of tartar and beat until stiff enough to hold a point. Then fold into cheese and corn mixture. Pour into well buttered baking dish and set dish in pan of hot water. Bake 50 to 55 minutes in slow moderate oven 325 degrees F. Serve piping hot, with a rich cream sauce to which you have added some of any of the following, sauteed mushrooms, shrimps, cut up green or ripe olives, or chopped chives. Makes 6 generous servings.

Salmon Souffle

1 cup quick 2 teaspoons cooking tapioca

1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons 1 cup milk

2 cups (1 lb.) 4 egg yolks canned salmon 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine tapioca, salt and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point and cook 5 minutes stirring frequently. Add flaked salmon, reserving a few large pieces to top souffle before baking. Remove from fire, add egg yolks which have been beaten until thick and lemon colored. Cool. Fill in egg whites, turn into buttered baking dish. Bake in slow oven 325 degrees F. 50 to 60 minutes or until souffle is firm. Serve with pimiento cheese sauce. Serves 6.

STEENBOOK

A few days ago I had a talk with the scientist who has done more than anyone else to spread the use of Vitamin D. He is Prof. Harry Steenbook of the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Harry Steenbook, born in a Wisconsin village 53 years ago, finished high school at the age of 15, and a year later entered the state university in Madison. After graduating he studied at Yale and the University of Berlin, but soon returned to Wisconsin as a teacher and research worker.

I asked Professor Steenbook many questions about his early work, and he told me how his study of Vitamin A led him on to the field of Vitamin D.

In 1919 a German scientist proved that the disease called "rickets" could be cured with a machine which gave out ultra-violet rays. This was important, since millions of children in Europe, and many older persons as well, were suffering from rickets at the time.

Yet the ultra-violet machines were not to be the last answer to the problem. They were somewhat costly, and there was danger from them if they were not in expert hands.

The idea came to Steenbook, "Why not turn ultra-violet rays on food and see whether the eating of that food will cure rickets?"

The idea brought about test after test. An Alpine sun lamp was turned on chopped liver, and the liver was fed to white rats which had rickets. It worked! The rats became well! They were obtaining Vitamin D from food which had been exposed to ultra-violet rays. An important power of sunshine had been stored up!

More tests were made. The Alpine sun lamp was turned on olive oil, and it stored up the ultra-violet rays. A mighty secret had been discovered, a secret which was to mean a far better supply of Vitamin D for the human race.

The "Steenbook process" came to be known far and wide, and today it is used by hundreds of companies under a license. Many dairies sell fresh Vitamin D milk to their customers, and milk canneries turn out millions of cans of evaporated milk containing Vitamin D.

Vitamin D bread and breakfast foods also have appeared on the market. A way has been found to put the vitamin in milk powder, and also into malted milk. This "sunshine vitamin" is much needed for good bones, good teeth and good health. Nature has put a good supply of Vitamin D in only one ordinary food—eggs.

Lamers, Van Boxtel Win Boxing Championships

Former Is Victor Over Steffen in 147-Pound Class

Johnny Dux Takes Heavy Honors and Jimmy Coyne Middleweight

HONEY LAMERS and Smokey Van Boxtel, Little Chute, won sectional championships in the regular division of the Appleton Post-Crescent-Oney Johnston Golden Gloves elimination tournament here yesterday. Lamers, a Green Bay native, defeated George Steffen, Green Bay, while Van Boxtel fought the best bout of his career in knocking John Perrier, Green Bay.

The bouts numbered approximately 60 and started shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. They ran until 6 o'clock and then were stopped until 7:30 when the long evening's show got underway. The evening's show ended shortly before 1 o'clock and saw a surprisingly large number of persons remaining around to see the last punch swung.

Almost 400 persons sat in on the afternoon eliminations and the evening's program packed the armory despite the icy conditions of the highways.

The tournament brought every kind of boxing imaginable. Some of the boys just stood up and swung or flailed. Others danced the entire three rounds and did little damage. There were several spectacular knockouts but considering the number of bouts the percentage was unusually low.

Will Go To Green Bay
Winners of championships in the open and novice divisions will go to Green Bay next Tuesday, Feb. 20, to compete in regional competition. Their expenses will be paid by the sponsors of the Appleton program. The boys will be in competition against boxers from Two Rivers, Escanaba and Oconto with the winners in the open division comprising the Green Bay team to the Chicago Golden Gloves meet later in the month.

Going down the list of championship bouts in the regular division:
112-pound class: Jimmie Richardson, Fond du Lac, won the title without pulling on a glove. He had no opposition.

118-pound class: The veteran Bruce Fero, Oshkosh, drew Harvey West, Appleton, little more than a novice by comparison. But Bruce proved himself a fine fellow by taking a three round workout against the Appleton youngster and giving West a bit of a lesson in the meantime. The crowd appreciated Fero's sportsmanship in not mauling West.

126-pound class: Lauron Chesley, now a student at Oshkosh State Teachers college, won the 126-pound title when he defeated Don Loonsfoot, Green Bay. The boys staged one of the best bouts of the evening and the decision might have gone either way. Chesley probably copied the verdict because he was the aggressor. He was a member of the Bay gloves team last year.

Chesley Wins Trophy
Chesley was named winner of the fight-night trophy awarded by Charles Fong of the Pond Sport Shop. His closest competitor was Turn to Page 15

Sorensen's Face Hilbert Tonight

Teams Will Clash at 8:30 This Evening at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium

The Hilbert City basketball team will play two games in Appleton this week. Tonight at 8:30 they face the Sorensen Bakers at the Y. and on Saturday night they will oppose the Elm Tree Bakers at the armory.

The Hilbert team is rated as one of the outstanding teams in this section of the state. The Hilbert boys possess a strong lineup including Guy Krumm, coach of the Kaukauna High school team. Schroven, a forward and Baldock, a center, are men that excel around the hoop while Fox and Nell, regular guards, are long distance experts. Also slugging in the Hilbert lineup are Schroeder and Peterson. Schroeder, coach at Hilbert High school and has been a member of the Hilbert City team quite a few years. The Hilbert team will come on to the floor fresh from winning the Two Rivers tournament Sunday. The Hilbert squad also holds a one-sided victory over the Kimberly A. A. squad this year.

The Baker will be out to even up their series with Hilbert. The Appleton's lost a thriller earlier in the season at Hilbert. The Sorensen boys are confident they can take the underdogs and make it their nineteenth victory of the season. Seem action for the Bakers tonight will be Don Puder, Don Powers, Jim West and Bob Volkman as forward with Bud Weiner and Bud Buehler doing the work at center. Ed Oshkosh, George Greisen and John Goehler will see action at the guard posts.

Dodgers Got Man They Needed, Vosmik Says

Cleveland — As far as Joe Vosmik is concerned, the Brooklyn Dodgers are definitely pennant contenders.

Football Pirates on Mike Basrak's Trail

Pittsburgh — President Art Rooney and Coach Walter Kestling of the Pittsburgh Pirate pro grid-ers will motor to Altoona today to contact Mike Basrak, former All-America center from Duquesne university who now is coaching a high school in the mountain city.

Appleton boxers from this section who competed in the Golden Gloves elimination tournament yesterday at Armory D, held under the sponsorship of the Appleton Post-Crescent and Oney Johnston post of the American Legion, got themselves in all kinds of positions as the above pictures attest. In the upper left, Bill Block, Appleton, is clinching with Bob Bradley, Dale, the latter being on the left. In the center, John Perrier, Oshkosh, has chased and pushed Smokey Van Boxtel, Little Chute, through the ropes and is reaching over the top trying to land another wallop. Smokey went on to win, however. At the extreme right, Marvin Filz, left, is trading leather with John Emmers in their semi-final go which Filz won. Both are from Appleton.

Appleton Boxers Winners of Five Titles in Novice Division of Tournament

APPLETON novice division amateur boxers won five of the eight titles yesterday in the Golden Gloves sectional elimination and will make the trip to Green Bay next week to battle other novices in the Green Bay regional meet. It was a rather surprising showing because Appleton hadn't been considered much of an amateur center. The boys worked under the direction of Tom Cahoe at St. Joseph gym for the past ten days.

The novice division bouts resolved themselves into something of a tangle between Appleton and Clintonville. And frankly, a large delegation of Clintonville fight followers aren't so sure some of the decisions which went against their lads weren't highway robbery.

Appleton's titles were won by Dick Piette in the 112-pound class, Marvin Filz in the 126-pound class, Sonny Filz in the 147-pound class, and Bobbie Diener in the 160-pound division. The other titles went to Roland Hansen, Kaukauna, in the 135-pound class, Leo Lamers, Little Chute, in the lightweight class, and Curtis Lemke, Clintonville, in the heavyweight class.

The Novice Grind
The novices really were the heroes of the program. They were entered in great numbers and while the doctors tossed out a few before the fights started, and

Kimberly Cagers Will Play Classy Milwaukee Squad

Meet Kadine Jewelers on Clubhouse Floor Wednesday Evening

KIMBERLY — Kimberly is in for a treat Wednesday evening when the Kadine Jewelers of Milwaukee come up for a basketball game with the Kimberly A.A. cagers at the clubhouse. The visitors boast one of the best teams in Wisconsin, having some of the outstanding cage stars of Milwaukee on its roster. The game starts at 8:30.

The Kadines are leading the Milwaukee Muni-Ace league, the best in their city, and also rest on top in the Suburban Amateur league. They have won 20 and lost 3 and last Saturday night defeated the Marquette frosh in the preliminary game of the main event of the Marquette-Kentucky game at the auditorium.

The average height of the visitors is 6 foot 3 inches. This advantage gave them a win over the Allen-Bradleys, Wisconsin's A.A.U. winners of the past two seasons. Topping the list is Jack Dentinger, 6 foot 5 inch center and still growing. Ben Pierce, forward, holds all the scoring records in the city and county for the past two seasons. Don Looser, high geared forward is all set to enter Marquette U. next season. Bert Bell, Al Rohn and Manny Hansher are all 6 foot 3 inches with Hansher slated for Marquette.

Guy Denwell, Milwaukee State Teachers coach, is bringing this quintet to Kimberly, and if the Papermakers ever need to be hot, it will need to be Wednesday night. The villagers are proud of their team and believe they can boast of the best home talent squad in the valley, if not in the state.

The Papermakers have nine men on their roster and every one found it popular to scout every city in the valley for players. Teams of larger cities have found this solution profitable, in order to compete with Kimberly's home talent cage squad. The Papermakers at present are resting on top of the Wisconsin-Michigan league, and this weekend will take a trip to Ontonagon and Wakefield, Mich.

And there's just as much difference in topcoats.
Remember the old Pierce Arrows that required a step ladder to get into?

And the old Velie cars that were short on wheel base and long on height?

You wouldn't think of comparing them with the one you're driving and here's what we're driving at . . . the 1940 topcoats we've just opened are as different in everything as the modern convertible coupe is from the old one man top.

See them soon . . . that's why they are here so early.

Bows to Fighting St. Norbert Squad in Overtime Period
SCORE IS 36 TO 30
Squires Rattle Up 27-18
Lead During Third Quarter Spurt

BY DAVE YUENGER
EST DEFENSE — A fighting St. Norbert High school basketball team scored three baskets in an overtime period to defeat St. Mary of Menasha in a Fox River Valley Catholic conference game here Monday night, 36 to 30. The defeat was the first for the Menasha five in nine league starts. The Squires held a lead at the end of the first three periods only to watch the Zephyrs fight back to tie the ball game shortly before the end of regular playing time, 20 to 20. Jim Joppe, forward, and Ralph Hartman, center, provided the heroics for St. Norbert in the three-minute overtime by dropping in two and one bucket, respectively.

The work of Hartman and Joppe in the overtime was overshadowed during the regular playing time by Jim Collins, who plunked in 10 baskets and 4 gift shots to take scoring honors for the night. Collins kept his team ahead most of the game with his timely baskets and also sparked on defense. Bill Resch, St. Mary guard, was best in the scoring for his team with nine points.

Lead 17-16 at Half
St. Norbert, faced with a 5 to 2 deficit shortly after the beginning of the game, battled back to take a 9 to 8 lead at the end of the first quarter. After the score was tied three times in the second stanza the Squires went ahead, 17 to 14, on Collins' basket and gift shot. St. Mary narrowed the margin to 17 to 16 at halftime on Griessbach's pot shot.

In the third quarter the Squires stepped out to a 27 to 18 lead, which was whittled down by Johnson's short basket and Griessbach's long one from the side. Collins then sank two charity tosses to put his team seven points ahead at the third period ended.

The Zephyrs put on a brilliant rally in the last quarter. While holding St. Norbert to a single free throw, they went out and got four baskets in rapid succession. The last basket, a pot shot by Schuler with a minute and a half to go, tied up the ball game at 20 to 20. Each team tried desperately to score in the remaining time but had few frequent chances at the hoop, necessitating the extra period.

Hartman got the first overtime basket on a rebound after the period was only 10 seconds old. Shortly after Joppe sank a pot shot to give the Squires a 34 to 30 lead, lengthened a few moments later by Joppe's second basket from underneath.

Allow Pitchers to Rear Back, Take Another Full Step

Baseball Rules Committee Makes Change With Only One Dissent

BY GAYLE TALBOT
BELLEAIR, Fla.—(7)—Relief has been a long time a-coming for the baseball pitcher, and he has taken some hard knocks in the past 20 years, but the elders of the game at last are getting in a mood to help him stand off the butchers.

At its meeting here yesterday the rules committee voted with only one dissenter to allow all of the pitchers in the country to rear back and take another complete step as they deliver the ball. That is the first really important move toward helping the hurler that has been made since the rule-makers began abolishing freak deliveries back in 1919.

Opinion was widely divided, even among the members of the committee, whether the new rule would effect any great and immediate change. Several were doubtful that the present top pitchers would be able to employ the new freedom to advantage. But all agreed that it was a move toward harnessing the hurler, or at least toward giving the pitcher an even break.

Victory for Griffith
Adoption of the rules was a complete victory for Clark Griffith, veteran manager of the Washington Senators, who for several years has been carrying on a loud and vigorous campaign for pitchers' rights.

The new rule, adopted in the course of a long session during which the rule makers fussed interminably and Commissioners Kenehan, M. Landis fidgeted and drowsed in the presiding chair, will permit the pitcher almost complete freedom with one leg. There's only one thing he can't do now, and that is to step sideways.

Whereas the harassed hurler previously has had to stand with both legs on the rubber, he now (in the case of a right-hander) can stretch his left leg far out behind him during his wind-up and take a long, complete stride as he swings through to deliver the ball.

Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, who voted against the rule, growled that it would produce even more "cheating" by pitchers than they have been getting away with.

President Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees said it should give any pitcher who learns the new way a little more speed, but he feared it might result in lack of control in some cases.

The solons flatly rejected the repeated demand of Quinn that "something" be done about the intentional pass. The others declared the moundman should retain his right to pass any batter he didn't want to pitch to. Quinn wanted the man so passed to get two bases.

President Ed Barrow of the Yankees wrote the committee suggesting that the batter be intentionally passed simply be told to trot down to first, thus saving the time required to throw him four wide ones. This was turned down.

Madison —(7)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team defeated Minnesota last night, 36 to 34, protecting its slender lead in a wild scramble while shouts of about 6,000 spectators rang through the field-house.

A tangled mass of players fought for the ball under the Minnesota basket as the game ended, the Gophers having waived two free throws in the last minute for futile long shot chances of tying the score. The hectic ending climaxed a close battle all the way.

Neither team had much drive until Minnesota, trailing 15 to 14 at halftime, started a late rally that knotted the score at 34-34. Gene Englund, center, slipped under the basket for a roll-in field goal, putting Wisconsin ahead and intensifying the closing pace.

Englund, benched part of the first half because of an injury, led scoring with 15 points.

The Gophers' leading scorer, William Warhol, center, who made 11 points and their starting forward, Max Mohr, were ejected on fouls. Wisconsin lost Charles Epperson, forward, on fouls. Each team made 12 points from the free throw line. Wisconsin missed eight and Minnesota five.

It was Wisconsin's second victory in six Big Ten games, ending a losing streak that began after the Badgers beat Chicago, 20 to 18, in their conference opener. They had lost four conference and two non-conference games in a row. The loss, their fourth in six games, brought Minnesota down to equal ranking with Wisconsin in Big Ten play.

Wisconsin will meet Ohio State's cagers at Columbus Saturday night.

Defeat Hilbert but Forfeit Game Because of Tourny Ruling
Clintonville — The Clintonville Auctioneers, competing in a state invitational basketball meet at Two Rivers over the weekend, won every game they played and only took third place. The Auctioneers, defeated Hilbert Sunday afternoon, 31 to 30, to gain the right to play in the finals Sunday evening but the Hilbert squad protested after the game that Clintonville had used a player under an assumed name. The protest was allowed with the Auctioneers accepting the defeat and playing the first game Sunday night against Menasha C.Y.O., taking an easy 63 to 46 victory to win third place. Mike's Taverners from Hilbert went on in the finale to ring up a 45 to 33 win over a Two Rivers team.

(Editor's Note—According to Two Rivers reports, Clem Bohrer, Clintonville manager, forgot to list one of his players and the courtman used a name already listed, H. Feltz.)

This was the third meeting of the season between Hilbert and the Auctioneers and another game was to have been scheduled at Clintonville in the near future. But it looks as though it will be called off. The results of those three games gave the Auctioneers two victories, both by one point, and a 4-point win for Hilbert playing on their home floor.

While the Clintonville quintet was granted third place award, the Auctioneers have contented themselves with the fact that it was a moral victory, having defeated Hilbert in the crucial game of the journey. Saturday afternoon the Clinton made their first appearance, and eked out a 32 to 30 win over the Kaukauna County Teachers from Algoma. In the evening the Auctioneers were pitted against the strong Shefford Cheese five from Green Bay and sneaked through a 34 to 32 victory. Then on Sunday afternoon met up with the protesting Hilbert squad and in the evening played Menasha for third place.

The Auctioneers came in for their share of the laurels, having two men chosen on the all-tournament team. Jumbo Elandt, Clint guard, was picked on the chosen five and Sid Feltz, playing at center for the third place winners was picked as the most popular and most valuable man in the tournament. The sportsmanship award was given to Bohrer.

Kaws Must Beat Menasha to Stay In Race for Title

Seek Fifth Successive Win In Game on Bluejay Court Tonight

Kaukauna — Showing up well in a spirited scrimmage with the regulars last night, Coach Krumm's team travel to Menasha tonight in quest of their seventh victory and their fifth win in a row. With Kaukauna looming up right now as the hottest five in the loop, the squad should return with another game in the win column to set the stage for the crucial battle with Shawano here Friday.

Kaukauna cannot afford to lose tonight or it will be eliminated from the race for the title. The regular five will start at 8 in the St. Mary's gym last week, may play without substitution.

Menasha will be up against an offense that shows fear of the Kaws regulars up among the seven best scorers of the conference. Bud Ager, with 78 points, trails Reed of Shawano and Hesselman of Neenah. Karl Gierdema is in fourth place with 70. Don Bielek is fifth with 68 and Joe Bloch seventh with 63. The other Kaws regular, Jay O. Kiehnberg, is fifteenth with 41. W. P. Kiehn is the chief threat of the Bluejays, having scored 63 points, with the offense then falling off to R. Landskron, with 34.

Cautions Squad — Coach Krumm has cautioned the squad against overconfidence. Last year a favored Kaukauna five journeyed to Menasha and was upset. With basketball interest at its highest pitch in years a large number of Kaws rooters are making the trip tonight.

The largest home crowd of the season is expected Friday when the Shawano Indians come to town. For the first time in years Kaukauna will be the favored team. Karl Gierdema, Kaws guard, and Bud Reed, Shawano ace, will transfer their football rivalry to the basketball court. Last year Reed scored 18 points here, but most of them came after Gierdema had gone out on fouls.

One Is Beloved

BY LOUISE PLATT HAUCK

hosts," reference to the Trenton home, "built for a famous young aviator who met a tragic death . . . was it an omen of the ill-fortune soon to befall its present owner?" but Sue read no more than that first brutal paragraph.

Bob was ruined. The business he gloried in, to which he had devoted more and more time after his marriage was gone. Suddenly incidents were whittled down for her now: Bob's pre-occupation, his growing distaste for social life, his hours alone in his study while she talked with Eric, or later sat dreaming of him before the fire. He had seen this coming, poor Bob, and had fought his fight alone . . . without his wife's sympathy or support.

But there had been Pats . . . standing still on the crowded sidewalk. Sue struck one hand smartly against the paper. What an idiot she had been! Pats, with her business training, had known Bob's desperate straits. That scene on Christmas Eve — it all came back to Sue now. It had not been a man in the throes of an illicit love who sat there, gripping her hand in his hands. Pats' embrace had been one of comfort, surprising enough in Pats but nevertheless unmistakable now to her sister-in-law.

What . . . what was Bob doing now? Had he returned from his office, leaving the wreck of his hopes behind him forever? Had he sought his wife, his home only to discover that faintly mocking letter which awaited him?

Sue's rigidity left her instantly. She was rowled into action by the thought of her own written words. The bus? She couldn't wait for a bus! She stopped a yellow cab. Could she be taken to St. Joseph? She would pay . . .

Urged equally by his passenger's recklessness and her promise of a generous tip, the driver covered the distance between the two cities in a little more than an hour. Mercifully no state patrolman saw that insanely driven car. To Sue, it seemed to crawl.

She did not think of Eric, she made no plan beyond reaching her own home, snatching that letter before Bob's weary eyes fell on it.

She was thankful for her far roll of bills when the taxi stopped before the gate. She looked about her anxiously. Bob's car was not in sight; but then he might have put it away in the garage.

She had left her latchkey beside the letter so she was compelled to ring. The maid's surprised face awakened her to a need for caution.

"I changed my mind about going, you see, Nellie," she said

Council Will Act On Petitions for Pay Restorations

Police, Firemen Want Salaries Returned to 1932 Level

Kaukauna — If the council grants petitions of policemen and firemen for restoration of a salary cut when it sets city salaries at the next meeting, the increased cost will be slightly over $1,000. At the Feb. 2 session the fire and police committees

"Mr. Trenton has had bad news. Is he here?"
"No, Mrs. Trenton."
"Hasn't been?" she asked fearfully.

God be thanked for that! Sue fairly ran up the steps, into her sitting room where she snatched the letter, standing accusingly against its bowl of flowers, and tore it into bits. Not content with this form of destruction, she made a pile of the tiny pieces on the hearth and lighted them. Only when the light ashes floated up the chimney did she rise to her feet and drew a long breath. Now she must plan—act sion said the petitions had "been considered by the commissioners and referred to the council with the commission's recommendation that the restoration of pay requested be granted as soon as the council sees fit."

The petition of the policemen stated "in 1932 we took a cut in wages of 10 per cent. Up to the present time we have received half of this back. Now, therefore, in view that the cost of living has gone up and conditions are better, we ask that our pay be restored to that of 1932."

Average 32 Cents
The firemen's petition said that "outside of our department all wages that had been cut in 1932 have been restored throughout the city and its industries. There is hardly a man working for the city or for the Thimpany Pulp and Paper company, who is getting less than 50 cents an hour. The firemen's wages average about 32 cents an hour on a straight time basis. That does not include the time that we are called to a fire when off duty; for fire inspection or when we are called in on double duty when the weather is severe and cold during the winter months."

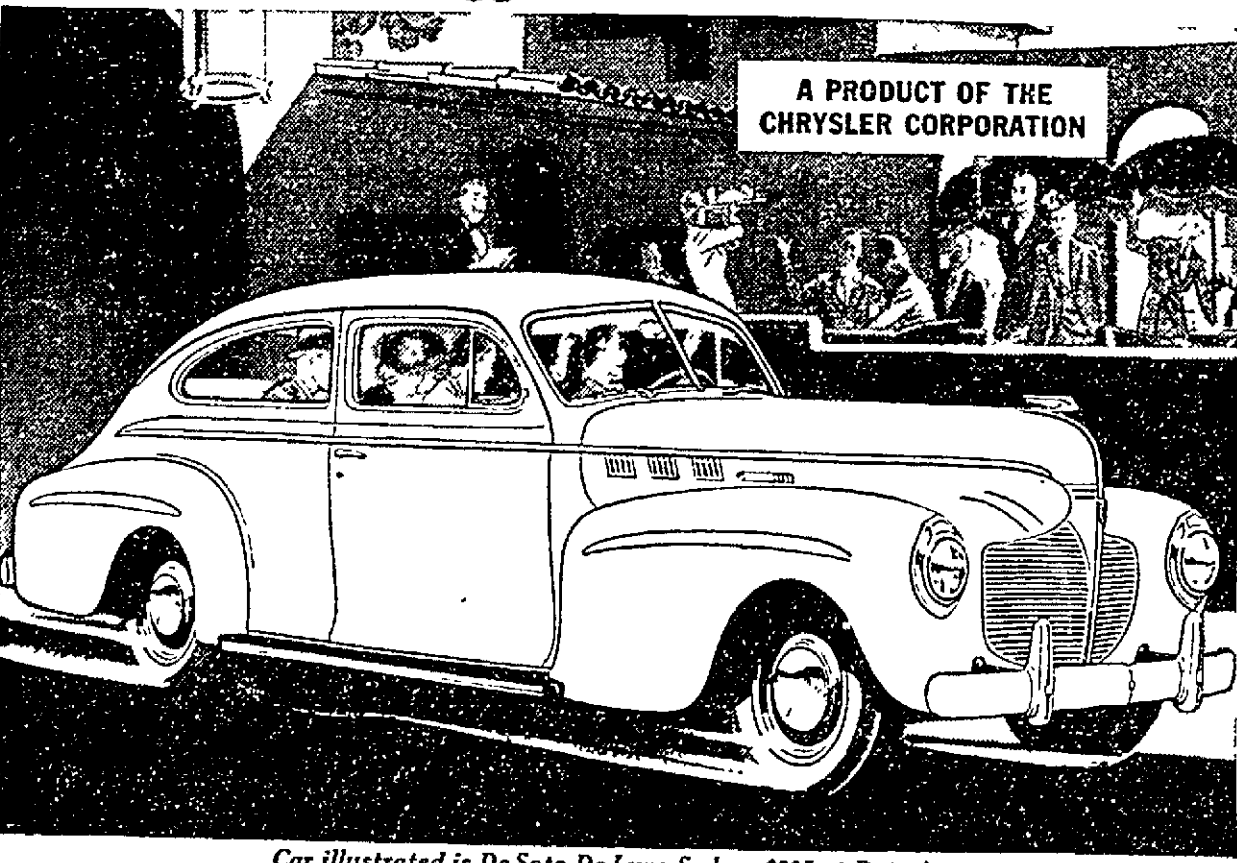

The present firemen's salary, after two years, is $1,425, with the captain received $1,482, the assistant chief $1,575 and the chief $1,680. Each policeman receives $1,539, the assistant chief $1,596 and the chief of police $1,935.
